Tokyo, Japan, April 10, 2014 – Mitsubishi Gas Chemical Company Inc. has been recognized as one of 18 companies receiving Intel Corporation's Preferred Quality Supplier (PQS) award for their performance in 2013. This supplier has demonstrated industry-leading commitment across all critical focus areas on which they are measured: quality, cost, availability, technology, customer service, labor and ethics systems and environmental sustainability. Mitsubishi Gas Chemical Company Inc. is recognized for their significant contributions providing Intel with chemicals for semiconductor device manufacturing, deemed essential to Intel's success.

"It is an honor to receive the PQS award also in 2013." said Toshikiyo Kurai, President, Mitsubishi Gas Chemical Company, Inc. "I would like to thank Intel for their continued support and assistance. We will keep improving not only the quality and the availability but also the cost issue."

"Intel is pleased to bestow Mitsubishi Gas Chemical Company with the prestigious PQS award for their continued commitment in providing materials that meet Intel's aggressive technology roadmap. Mitsubishi Gas Chemical Company has consistently demonstrated exceptional quality performance and has formed a strong collaborative partnership with Intel," said Tim Hendry, VP Fab Materials Organization.

The PQS award is part of Intel's Supplier Continuous Quality Improvement (SCQI) program that encourages suppliers to strive for excellence and continuous improvement. To qualify for PQS status, suppliers must score 80 percent on a report card that assesses performance and ability to meet cost, quality, availability, technology, environmental, social and governance goals. Suppliers must also achieve 80 percent or greater on a challenging improvement plan and demonstrate solid quality and business systems.
