Mitsubishi Gas Chemical Company, Inc. (MGC; Head Office: Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo; President: Toshikiyo Kurai) has been recognized as a 2016 Supplier Continuous Quality Improvement (SCQI) award winner.

The SCQI award is the company's most distinguished supplier recognition. It is granted to an elite group of suppliers that has achieved the very highest standards of quality, cost, availability, technology, customer service, and sustainability.

“On behalf of Intel, I congratulate MGC on their 2016 Supplier Continuous Quality Improvement award,” said Robert Bruck, Corporate Vice President and General Manager of Global Supply Management at Intel. “Intel is extremely proud of our award-winning suppliers, as they demonstrate the very best performance among one of the world’s most elite supplier communities. The close collaboration with these suppliers has been vital to making smart and connected devices run best on Intel’s industry leading technologies.”

To qualify for SCQI status, suppliers must exceed the highest expectations and aggressive performance goals while scoring at least 95 percent on an integrated report card that assesses performance throughout the year. Suppliers must also achieve 90 percent or greater on a challenging improvement plan and demonstrate outstanding quality and business systems.

The SCQI award is part of Intel's SCQI program, which encourages Intel's key suppliers to strive for best-in-class levels of excellence and continuous improvement. Additional information about the SCQI program is available at www.intel.com/go/quality

MGC is the world's largest supplier of super pure hydrogen peroxide and provides creative solutions through a variety of chemicals for semiconductor device manufacturing in the highest quality and reliability. MGC has production facilities in multiple locations, including the US, Japan, Korea, Singapore and Taiwan for global supply chain support.
